

“My So-Called Enemy”

“Filmed over a seven-year period, “My So Called Enemy” follows a group of teenage Israeli and Palestinian girls committed to mutual understanding and a just solution to the conflict that continues to rage in their homeland...This illuminating film charts the girls’ attempts to nurture their budding friendships and hopes for peace in the context of increasing violence. As entrenched ideologies and political interests tighten their grip, we learn once again that it will be left to the young to build bridges instead of walls.”

~Discovery Channel Silverdocs

“Moving” “Inspiring” “Illuminating” “Beyond Violence”

Date: Sunday, August 28, 2011

Time: 1-2:30 pm, with panel discussion immediately following

Moderator

Dr. Peter Moore CWRU Assoc. Professor, Political Science

Panelists

Lisa Gossels, Director

Dr. Brian Amkraut, Professor, Judaic Studies from Siegal College

Dr. Nahida Gordon, CWRU Professor, Statistics

Dr. Zeki Saritoprak, Assoc. Professor of Islamic Studies from John Carroll University

Place: Case Western Reserve University
Strosacker Auditorium
10900 Euclid Ave. Cleveland, OH

Purpose

To inspire teens to embrace diversity and go beyond tolerance to acceptance. To instill confidence to lead social transformation.

Intentions

To promote peace, stimulate improved listening, remove barriers to coexistence, improve teamwork, reduce bullying, provide a better understanding of local and global issues.

Tickets

<http://mysocalledenemycle.eventbrite.com/> (Adults- $10, Students – free)

Volunteer opportunities

Needed to reach a wider audience, and assist on the screening day

Please view the trailer to get a sense of what so brilliantly captures the passion and life altering experiences of 22 young women who began the journey “to confront faith and cultural based conflicts...It demonstrates the inspiring way the human spirit can really mend and befriend another that’s perceived as an enemy.” NJ.com 6/23/11

Watch the trailer

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5kKOLI4t2XE>

Visit our website

<http://mysocalledenemy.com/>

Visit us on Facebook

www.facebook.com/mysocalledenemy